IN THE U.S. SUPREME COURT

Cases Decided in the 1990 Term

Shell v. Mississippi, No. 89-7279 (Oct. 29, 1990). Trial court's limiting instruction to define the "especially heinous, atrocious or cruel" aggravating factor is not constitutionally adequate under Godfrey v. Georgia, 446 U.S. 420 (1980) and Maynard v. Cartwright, 486 U.S. 356 (1988). To the extent that the Mississippi Supreme Court relied on this aggravating factor, the sentence was reversed. See Clemons v. Mississippi, 494 U.S. ____ (1990).

Cage v. Louisiana, No. 89-7302 (Nov. 13, 1990). Definition of reasonable doubt by state trial judge as "such doubt as would give rise to a grave uncertainty" and "an actual substantial doubt," combined with requirement that guilt be established to a "moral certainty" violates defendant's rights under the Due Process Clause.

Perry v. Louisiana, No. 89-5120 (Nov. 13, 1990). Judgment vacated and remanded for further consideration in light of Washington v. Harper, 494 U.S. ____ (1990).

Minnick v. Mississippi, No. 89-6332 (Dec. 3, 1990). Once counsel is requested, police interrogation must cease, and the rule of Edwards v. Arizona, 451 U.S. 477 (1981) prohibits any reinitiation of interrogation without presence of counsel, irrespective of whether the accused has consulted with counsel.

Ohio v. Huertas, No. 89-1944 (Jan. 22, 1991). Writ of certiorari dismissed as improvidently granted.

Parker v. Dugger, No. 89-5961 (Jan. 22, 1991). While a reviewing court in a weighing state may, after striking aggravating factors, reweigh the evidence, see Clemons v. Mississippi, 494 U.S. ____ , the Florida Supreme Court failed to conduct an independent reweighing of the evidence. It erroneously relied on what it took to be the trial court's finding of no mitigating circumstances, even though the record supported a showing of nonstatutory mitigating evidence.

Capital Cases Pending in the 1990 Term

McCleskey v. Zant, No. 89-7024. Whether a state that has been proven to have violated the rule of Massiah v. U.S., 377 U.S. 201 (1964), and to have deliberately hidden that violation, can establish an "abuse of the writ" on the ground that petitioner should have discovered the state's misconduct sooner. (Argued)

Ford v. Georgia, No. 87-6796. Whether retroactive application of the rule announced in Batson v. Kentucky, established in Griffith v. Kentucky, can be avoided by invoking a previously unannounced state objection procedure as a procedural bar. (Argued)

Arizona v. Fulminante, No. 89-839. (1) Whether state supreme court erred in failing to apply totality-of-the-circumstances test in addressing question of whether defendant's confession to inmate-informer was made involuntarily. (2) Whether erroneous admission of an involuntary confession is subject to harmless error analysis when defendant made a subsequent voluntary confession. (Argued)

Yates v. Evatt, No. 89-7691, 59 USLW 3243, cert. granted (Oct. 1, 1990). Whether South Carolina's application of harmless error analysis to a Sandstrom v. Montana, 442 U.S. 510 (1979) violation conflicts with the requirements of Rose v. Clark and Carella v. California. (Argued)

Mu'Min v. Virginia, No. 90-5193, cert. granted, 59 USLW 3302 (Oct. 9, 1990). Whether defendant's rights under the Sixth, Eighth and Fourteenth amendments were violated by trial court's refusal to allow the defense to question prospective jurors as to what they had read or heard about the crime. Case below Mu'Min v. Commonwealth, 389 S.E.2d 886 (Va. 1990).

Schad v. Arizona, No. 90-5551, cert. granted, 59 USLW 3302 (Oct. 9, 1990). Whether a capital conviction obtained without a majority or a unanimous vote by a jury violates defendant's Sixth and Fourteenth Amendment rights; whether under Beck v. Alabama, 447 U.S. 625 (1980) a necessary included offense is a "lesser included offense" under state law. Case below Schad v. Arizona, 788 P.2d 1162 (Ariz. 1989).

Lankford v. Idaho, No. 88-7247, cert. granted, 59 USLW 3293 (Oct. 15, 1990). Whether the trial judge's imposition of the death sentence after prosecutor's notification that he would not seek the death penalty violated petitioner's Sixth, Eighth, and Fourteenth Amendment rights. Case below State v. Lankford, 747 P.2d 710 (Idaho 1987).

Coleman v. Thompson, No. 89-7662, cert. granted, 59 USLW 3325 (Oct. 29, 1990). Whether Harris v. Reed, 489 U.S. 255 (1989) allows a federal court in federal habeas corpus review, proceeding on state law and state court record to determine whether federal claims are barred by state procedural default; whether federal court should waive procedural default resulting from postconviction counsel's failure to file timely appeal (brief was one day late) when default would bar any hearing on petitioner's constitutional claims; whether the deliberate bypass standard of Fay v. Noia, 372 U.S. 391 (1963), applies to procedural default resulting from failure to file a timely appeal. Case below Coleman v. Thompson, 895 F.2d 139 (4th Cir. 1990).

+ Sentenced to death in the state where listed, but incarcerated under death sentence or under term sentence in another state

* / Seventeen inmates in this issue appear with a plus sign (+) next to their names. Nine defendants (4B, 4W, 1N), are under death sentence in two states; two (1B, 1W), are under death sentence in three states; the other six (3W, 2B, 1N), are serving term sentences previously imposed in other states. All multiple death-sentenced inmates are listed in their respective several state totals, but each is counted as only one inmate in the national total.

Reversals []: This issue of Death Row, U.S.A. includes bracketed names for 214 capital inmates. The brackets indicate that either a new sentence proceeding is pending following a court order, or that a court-ordered reversal of conviction or sentence is not yet final due to an appeal filed by the State.

Juveniles # : Thirty-three inmates (32 males and one female) appear with a (#) sign next to their names. These inmates were under the age of eighteen at the time of offense.
